AAUW NC Past President

TRANSITION PERIOD for the new President-Elect.

Following the Annual Meeting (normally in March) for the new state President-Elect, the outgoing president needs to ensure a smooth transition to the next presidential term. To help this process, the outgoing president will follow recommended guidelines during the four months of transition from March to July 1st when the incoming president begins her term of office.

1. Include the newly elected President in all Executive Committee meetings during the transition period, so current issues and priorities are shared. If they are not a current Board member, also invite the newly elected officer. If she is not a current Board member, also invite her to attend all state Board meetings during those four months from March to July 1st.
2. Transmit copies of documents that are critical to ongoing issues and activities of AAUW NC to the newly elected President.
3. Include the new President in other committee meetings and phone calls that have ongoing impact and importance for the next term.
4. Arrange for the incoming President to meet with appointed state Board members during the transition period before taking office. This planning meeting allows the new Board to begin prioritizing goals and objectives for the coming year and begin creating a long-term plan. This planning meeting will not take official Board actions.
5. For security purposes, the outgoing president and incoming president will agree on a specific date and time for changing passwords and providing access to all key functions. By July 1st, new and continuing officers, Board members and committee chairs need to have full access to the technology which is required for their area of responsibility.
6. The outgoing president will direct the Technology Chair to provide a transition email address for the incoming president and to change the presidential email address for the outgoing president to the new president prior to July 1st.
7. The outgoing president will update the national AAUW Community Hub before June 30, so the officers and committee chairs are correctly listed prior to July 1st. (The incoming President also needs access to this database prior to taking office on July 1st in order to contact possible candidates for board members & committee chairs).
8. The outgoing president also needs to notify NC organizations and institutions, which are integral to AAUW NC programs and goals with the name and contact information of the incoming president. Some of these contacts are:
 - a. ERA Alliance
 - b. NC Archives
 - c. NC Historical and Literary Association
 - d. NC League of Women Voters

ONGOING as Past President

1. The immediate past-president may continue on the AAUW NC Board without a specific duty, functioning as a member who can clarify questions and provide information related to ongoing projects and other issues for the state Board.
2. The immediate past president is responsible for making sure that copies of the records of their term(s) are deposited with the North Carolina Archives in Raleigh. This is the official repository for AAUW NC historical records.
3. The Past-President is often called on to install new branch and state officers.
4. Past Presidents may be invited to lead or consult with AD HOC committees that are working on special priorities, such as By-Laws revision, technology upgrades, and other long-range projects.
5. A past-president also is a resource for recommendations about possible candidates for appointment to committees and/or candidates for state office.

AAUW NC Executive Committee

- The Executive Committee (EC) is comprised of the elected officers: President, Vice-President, Treasurer, and Branch Advocate as directed by the Bylaws
- The EC has the general power to administer the affairs of the state and to initiate and carry out its programs and policies. It acts for the state between board meetings as well as Annual Meetings
- The President calls for a meeting of the EC when she identifies that discussion regarding items or issues is warranted. However, other EC members may request a meeting. Alternatively, a regular date and time may be used by the EC for meetings as determined by the EC
- The elected officers control the financial assets and assure their safekeeping and accounting
- The EC approves the President's appointment of standing and ad hoc committees and their chairs
- The EC appoints someone to fill the unexpired term of an officer, excepting the President, which requires the Nominating Committee
- Any member of the EC may have the responsibility of heading committees or task forces as decided by the EC
- Meetings of the EC are at the discretion of the committee and President, but must be held at least once per year
- The EC determines the date, place and time of the Annual Meeting
- The EC provides for the conduct of necessary business of the membership in the unavoidable absence of an Annual Meeting
- The EC reviews and approves state mini-grant application requests
- The EC reviews and may approve endorsements for legislation requested by outside organizations, individuals or branch members
- The EC reviews and may approve a sponsorship, co-hosting or other such collaborative organizational educational or advocacy opportunities. The EC determines whether a branch may use the AAUW and/or the AAUWNC logo in the marketing of such situations. The monetary backing of nonpartisan political events must be reported to the EC prior to the dispersal of funds
- The EC will review the AAUW NC Policy Statement every two years and recommend changes for full board approval. Changes proposed by general membership are subjected to the same process of review and approval
- Meetings of the EC may be held in-person or electronically
- Any EC member may bring up an agenda item for discussion. Issues that the branch leadership or a state member is requesting be reviewed and/or approved by the board are first reviewed by the EC with recommendations submitted to the board along with the specific request

AAUW North Carolina – Guidelines and Procedures - Part 1: Elected Officials

- In the absence of a Finance Committee, the EC acts as such. The Treasurer will not serve as the presiding officer when in Finance Committee mode
- The EC discusses findings per actions assigned by the Board and identifies any additional required follow-up tasks.

AAUW NC Board of Directors

- The Board of Directors (board) is comprised of the four (or more if co-positions are in place) elected officers and the Chairs of selected standing and ad hoc committees appointed by the President
- The state board is responsible for approving actions and documents as described in the Bylaws and Policy Statement
- The board will meet a minimum of quarterly either in-person or electronically
- A quorum for the board is 50% of the Directors, including at least 50% of the officers
- The board determines dues for state membership and College/University representatives who become a branch member and must provide written notice to the membership at least 30 days before the Annual Meeting any changes from existing dues
- The annual budget is approved by the board and sent to the membership no later than 30 days before the start of the fiscal year
- The board approves the annual review of the state treasury, which is conducted by two individuals that do not include the Treasurer. These may include board and/or branch members
- The board elects a candidate put forth by the Nominating Committee for a President with an unexpired term if neither the VP or the Branch Advocate will take the position
- The board may vote to remove an elected officer from the board
- The board maintains a transparency that allows any member of the state to attend a meeting
- The board considers and approves recommendations from the Executive Committee

Director Role for the AAUW NC Board of Directors

- A director will adhere to and actively support the AAUW mission statement and AAUW NC purpose statement
- A director will attend 75% of the board meetings held quarterly or more frequently as determined by the board
- Active participation in the discussion and sharing of information and opinions is encouraged
- Whether a committee Chair or an elected officer, the director, while sharing specific information of the branch to whom they belong, will represent all the state membership in discussions and decisions
- Each director will support the decisions made by the board
- The director is responsible for demonstrating fiduciary responsibility by overseeing the financial transactions of the state treasury and approving recommendations of the Finance Committee for actions that relate to these funds
