How will we recognize AAUW NC Centennial?

The North Carolina State Division of the American Association of University Women (AAUW NC) was founded in 1927, marking the official establishment of the state chapter 46 years after the national organization began. <https://history.aauwnc.org/>

AI assisted proposal

To secure sponsors for the 100th anniversary of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) North Carolina, you need to build a strategic corporate outreach campaign that leverages the historical milestone of a century of women's advocacy. Because AAUW NC is a 501(c)(4) organization—meaning donations are generally not tax-deductible as charitable contributions—your pitch must heavily emphasize marketing value, corporate social responsibility (CSR) alignment, and direct public visibility.

The structured, step-by-step framework below details how to pitch, target, and secure corporate partners for this centennial celebration.

Sponsorship procurement requires systematic tracking and persistent follow-up.

- Phase 1: Leverage Internal Connections (Months 1-2)
 - Review the AAUW National Legacy Circle list and regional branch rosters to identify members with corporate connections. Warm introductions yield the highest conversion rates. [\[1\]](#)
- Phase 2: Direct Outreach & Meetings (Months 3-5)
 - Send out customized pitch packages to corporate social responsibility directors and marketing managers. Follow up via phone or an in-person coffee meeting within 7 to 10 business days.
- Phase 3: In-Kind and Material Sponsorship Triage (Months 5-6)
 - For companies unable to provide cash sponsorships, pivot to requesting valuable in-kind donations using established branch donation frameworks. Secure free venues from university partners, catering from local food businesses, or high-quality printing for the centennial booklet from local media companies. [\[1, 2\]](#)
- Phase 4: Fulfillment and Recognition (During & Post-Event)
 - Deliver exactly what was promised in the sponsorship tier. Take high-quality photos of corporate banners at the event to send along with a formal thank-you letter from the state board, laying the groundwork for future partnership renewals.

BACKGROUND documentation on the 1927 Founding:

Carrie B. Wilson's History: The primary historical record for this specific era is the History of the North Carolina State Division American Association of University Women, 1927-1947. Compiled and written by club historian Carrie B. Wilson and published in 1948, this document details the formation of the state division, milestone events, and notes on the individual local chapters that came before it.

Status of CAG applications 2026=2027: Asheville will file Round 1; Hendersonville will file Round 2; Opportunity for AAUW NC or Brevard Branch to file in Round 1 for Wendy Owen's grant to fund Hanger Hall's STEM competition project

This grant will fund travel and operating expenses to send 15-20 Hanger Hall students to the STEM competition in Durham. All 84 Hanger Hall students will be involved in the grant application, with a distinct role for each grade level. The proposal will focus on the steps required to reach competition and the funding needed to get there, supported by real evidence of student work and voice.

Hanger Hall is a female, single-sex middle school in Asheville. It serves the entire Western North Carolina region. It was founded by Howard Hanger in 1999 based on research conducted by AAUW. "The influence of AAUW and the book the Reviving Ophelia led me to start a middle school (6th through 8th grade) for girls." 1.

AAUW's 1990s research used 1980s data on girls born in the 1970s. A key finding was that girls' self-esteem plunged in middle school, compared to boys. The AAUW research indicated that girls were more likely to have anxiety over math and science than boys. 2

Mr. Hanger believed "middle school is a crucial stage for girls to develop a sense of self."3 He felt they needed single gender experiences and small classes. He opened Hanger Hall with 3 students, 2 of which were his daughters. Today the school has 84 students in grades 6-8. STEM education is a vital part of the curriculum in all 3 grades. 35% of the student body is on some form of scholarship and 50% receive NC Opportunities Tiered Scholarships.

Mr. Hanger set the precedent for students to become "explorers". 4 This grant would provide students opportunities to continue to explore.

Hanger Hall's motto is

Nurturing the girl and empowering the emerging woman 5
